

Graziella's jewellery-sculpture awarded at OroArezzo

A bracelet from the "Storie-Racconti" collection has won the Première 2017 award

The jewellery piece, created by Del Brenna, has received recognition for its level of creativity.

AREZZO – Graziella has won an award in the Jewellery-Sculpture category on the occasion of OroArezzo in May 2017. The expo was characterised, as usual, by the Première competition, organised to celebrate the beauty and creativity of Italian goldsmithing and requiring all companies participating in the competition to create a women's bracelet. Graziella, an Arezzo-based company specialising in the luxury sector and active in most markets throughout the world, presented a bronze jewellery piece from the collection "Storie-Racconti". The bracelet, designed and created by artist Cesare Del Brenna, transformed whimsical and playful elements from childhood games into sculpture, offering a perfect journey through time and memory.

The jewellery description reads: "the bracelet is a wearable sculpture and tells a story: childhood re-emerges in the figures of the animals that populate it, on a journey through time and within fantastical memory. The sculptor, Del Brenna, a renowned artist from Arezzo whose name has long been linked to goldsmithing and the Graziella Group, created the piece." Winning the Première award is a further proof of the quality of the company's production, gaining important recognition and confirming its place among the companies which exemplify Italian production excellence. "The bracelet is the expression of the creativity and innovation that have characterised our identity for years," commented Eleonora Gori, Graziella's retail manager. "The award received during OroArezzo testifies to the quality of our production and the work of Del Brenna, who never fails to create jewellery-sculptures that are wearable works of arts.
